Prison Child Placed in Foster Home

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State
 Welfare Commissioner Len Blaylock said Wednesday that the child of a woman inmate at Cummins Prison Farm has been placed in a foster home
 off the prison grounds.
 Blaylock said department policies precluded identifying the foster parents or the location of their home.

promise or prepare amendments.
 "My reputation for fairness
 will have to stand on my 40 years of public service," the 72-year-old Illinois Republican replied.

Dirksen defended his support
 of the open-housing proposal, past versions of which he has vigorously opposed, by saying Negro veterans returning from Vietnam "will be entitled to be integrated into the social and economic life of our country."

Referring to last summer's riots, he said the problems of the cities can't be solved without fairness in the field of housing.

Under the compromise measure, introduced just before the cloture petition, a ban on discrimination in the sale or rental of housing would take effect in three stages and—when fully effective—would cover about 70 per cent of the nation's housing units.

Beginning Jan. 1, 1970, home owners would be barred from discrimination in the sale of their property if they made use of a real-estate broker. They would be exempted from coverage only if they handled the sale themselves.

They would lose their exemption if, in sales advertising, they indicated racial or religious discrimination.

The first stage of the open-housing provision would take effect immediately and apply to housing financed with Federal Housing Administration or Veterans Administration guarantees, to public housing and to urban renewal projects.

Disappointed Over Real Estate Bill

By ED SHEARER

Associated Press Writer
 LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov.
 Winthrop Rockefeller, fighting a financial crisis that appears to be the central issue in the forthcoming gubernatorial campaign, expressed disappointment over defeat of a documentary real estate tax transfer bill
 during the special session of the legislature.

"How we can turn down $500,- 000 I can't understand," Rockefeller said in reviewing the session that ended last week.

The bill was one of only a handful of the administration measures that failed to pass in the session. Among the other defeated bills were ones that would have created an Association of Arkansas Counties, authorized the state retirement system to purchase common stocks in corporations and provided for retailers to post bonds
 when their sales tax remittance was delinquent any two months
 in a 12-month period.

Rockefeller also contended that his "Lynn Davis" bill was defeated since the legislature attached an amendment requiring the State Police director to be a qualified elector.

Davis, who was ruled ineligible for the post by the state Supreme Court, had registered to vote in Texarkana last July when he signed a sworn affadavit that he had lived in the city continuously for two years.

However, within that two-year period Davis had also signed a sworn affidavit in Wyoming saying he had lived there one year when he registered to vote
 in that state on May 13, 1966.

Rather than face the possibility of further litigation, Davis announced that he was withdrawing from consideration for reappointment.

The documentary stamp tax
 bill was defeated in the House with opponents referring to it as a new state tax, one that would have required the purchase of stamps at 55 cents per $500 value on real estate being transferred.

Rockefeller said the tax would have produced $500,000 a year for the state and that the federal government had removed itself from this particular area
 so that the state's could get the revenue.

The lawmakers may face the same bill again in May when the governor calls a second special session to act on matters in an attempt to resolve the state's financial crisis.

The bill that would have created an Association of Arkansas Counties proved to be one of the most controversial measures acted on during the 13-day session.
 It also proved to be a bill in which Rockefeller aligned himself with Old Guard Democrats
 when a dispute arose in the House over whether the measure was an administration bill.
 An aide to the governor told the House in committee of the whole that the bill had the full endorsement and backing of the governor.
 Impassioned debate followed

per cent surcharge.

That was last Aug. 3, when Johnson authorized an increase of at least 45,000 men in Vietnam by the end of the current fiscal year, raising total strength to 525,000 men.

The men are being sent but taxes have not yet been raised.
 The budget sent to Congress
 last month for the next fiscal year envisions a leveling off of both men and money for Vietnam. Any new escalation could break that budget before it even goes into effect.

Military spending in the current fiscal year was pegged last month at $73.7 billion including $24.5 billion for Vietnam but this is based on a shuffling of funds in the Pentagon and cutbacks in nonwar defense programs.

The budget for the next fiscal year beginning July 1 pegged military spending at $76.5 billion including $25 billion for Vietnam.

Any escalation, especially if it draws on reserve forces and increases draft calls, could also be felt in increased inflationary pressure, a factor the administration undoubtedly would cite
 in seeking higher taxes.

When the major escalation of the war began in 1965 the unemployment rate was about 4.5 per cent but that rate now is at 3.5
 per cent. Withdrawals from the labor force could create shortages and drive up labor prices.
 The Commerce Department reported only Wednesday the broadest increase in wholesale prices in manufacturing since the Korean War, indicating inflationary pressures are widespread.

 of Fordyce probably sounding
 the death knell.

Butler told his colleagues, "If we pass this bill it will dog your steps by day and haunt your dreams at night."

Butler also said the legislature would be defying itself by passing a measure to build a powerful lobby by diverting one per cent of the county aid fund
 to the association.

"If you are that simple-minded, then vote for it," Butler said.
 Sparks said passage of the bill would be taking a great step backwards in this "special era of excellence."

When the roll was called the bill received a favorable 50-46 margin, but 51 votes were needed for passage.

Purcell Chided Over Opinion on Club Raids

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov.
 Winthrop Rockefeller Wednesday chided Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell for not having rendered an opinion concerning legality of raids on such clubs as Top of the Rock in Little Rock.

Rockefeller said the request was made Feb. 6 by Harrel Hughes, director of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

The question arose when Rockefeller was asked why raids had been conducted in Hot Springs and not in Little Rock on clubs such as the Top of the Rock or the Little Rock Country Club.

Raids were conducted on three private clubs in Hot Springs Tuesday night in which liquor was confiscated by State Police and ABC agents.

Rockefeller said raids were not being made in Little Rock
 at this time because the administration was waiting on the opinion.

"When the time comes that that ruling is against the Top of the Rock, then the Top of the Rock can be raided, too,"
 he said.

However, Hughes later said
 that the specific question of whether private clubs such as country clubs could be raided
 by the ABC was not specifically placed in his request.

Asked when he anticipated
 the opinion, Rockefeller said,
 "Have you dealt with the attorney general?" He also said he had wondered why the opinion had not been rendered in three weeks.

Purcell, advised of Rockefeller's remarks, said, "It indicates that maybe he (Rockefeller) has decided that our opinions do reflect an interpretation of the law and perhaps indicates that in the future he will not only give official recognition to them but that he will follow the opinion."

Purcell said, that to his knowledge, all officials in the state had through the years followed the opinions rendered by an attorney general, and that Rockefeller was the only one who
 "chose to disregard the opinions."

Ted R. Christy, attorney for the ABC, said he knew of no existing law regarding the sale or dispensing of mixed drinks in private clubs. He said there is no reference to alcohol in the law providing for the establishing of private clubs.

Concerning the Hot Springs
 raids, Emil Urban, chief enforcement officer for the ABC,
 said that two Hot Springs judges refused him search warrants to raid the three clubs for illegal sale of mixed drinks.

Life in Arkansas

By TOMMY YATES

Associated Press Writer
Bees don't buzz when it's cold and not all bees can sting, according to a veteran beekeeper at Paragould.

In fact, Ray McLeister, 70, who has been keeping bees for 40 years, can offer a lot of information on bees that isn't readily known.

He says bees stay in a semi-dormant state during the winter, but that anytime the temperature climbs above 52 degrees the bees go out in search of food.

This, of course, leads to their importance as pollinators.

"The importance of honey bees as pollinators is becoming more apparent all the time," said McLeister, who keeps about 75 to 100 colonies of bees. "There are more than 50 crops that must be pollinated in order to produce, and since nature has been upset by modern farming, the only pollinators we have in sufficient numbers are honey bees."

"If the farmers would apply insecticides according to the recommendations of the extension service we could eliminate a large portion of destruction to honey bees," McLeister said. McLeister explained that only worker bees, which are females, will sting.

Drones, the male bee, don't even have stingers, and the queen bee is too busy running things to bother about stinging.

Often, it seems, that bees will sing some people while others can handle bees and let them crawl all over them without being stung.

"Bees are very sensitive to odor," McLeister says. "And persons who are afraid of bees give off a very strong odor to the bees." He said it seems that when the bees smell this odor, they know they are masters of the situation and sting with vengeance.

Lucille Ball, plugging her forthcoming motion picture in England now that the current season's production of "The Lucy Show" is finished, told a reporter for Variety that the format of her CBS series would change next season.

The trade paper quoted the star as saying that she plans to get those two children back into the series—the boy and the girl who were shipped off to school several seasons back and never heard from again. The locale of the series shifted from Connecticut to Hollywood. But when the children reappear, they will be the two Arnez children, Lucie and Desi Jr., both in their teens.

Both of them, have appeared from time to time on the program, and young Desi has had considerable show business experience playing in a musical trio that includes Dino Martin, Dean's young son.

It may be that the success of NBC's New Rowan and Martin variety show, Lucy's direct competition, had something to do with her decision to revise and freshen up the show. On several occasions recently, a variety hour has matched and even pulled ahead of a long-playing comedy series in the ratings.

At the end of this week, ABC will drop the five-minute morning news summary by Marlene Sanders, Miss Sanders, network television's only woman with a news show of her own, has had the daily show since 1964. Before that, the late Lisa Howard presided over a five-minute news spot.

Recommended tonight: "Carol Channing and 101 men," 9-10 EST, special program with Walter Matthau and George Burns that was originally scheduled for November but postponed by a strike of network technicians.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Fourteen female squirrel monkeys will take birth control pills in an Emory University research project aimed at determining the effect of female hormones on the anatomy of the inner ear.

Scientists want to see if there is an anatomical relationship between the pills and "dizzy spells" reported by some women who use them.

Sub City Halls for Suburbs

CINCINNATI (AP)—City Manager William Wichman proposed Wednesday that the city study the feasibility of setting up "sub city halls" in some of the suburbs. He said the idea of the plan is to provide the people with more "visible and tangible evidence" of the services they are getting.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Recently veteran director George Sidney was quoted in a trade paper as saying that future American musicals will probably be made in England.

This was depressing tidings for the Hollywood labor force, which has been hurting because of the unprecedented slowdown of production. Never has there been so little filming for so long. And no relief seems in sight.

Sidney's remark, of course, was partly aimed at publicizing his latest musical, "Half a Sixpence," which he said was helped by the proficiency of English technicians and the lower labor scale. The latter, plus the generous government subsidy, encourages American companies to shoot expensive films in England.

But I wonder if the five-year flood of British-made, American-financed films isn't reaching a diminishing rate of return.

The Academy Award nominations could be offered as evidence, if only of a superficial nature. You'll note that all five male nominees are Americans, whereas the Oscar race in recent years has been dominated by the likes of Paul Scofield, Peter O'Toole, Laurence Olivier, Richard Burton and Rex Harrison.

All of the nominated directors are Americans, in contrast to recent years. Of the five picture nominees, only "Doctor Dolittle" was filmed in England, and the majority of scenes were made in Hollywood and the Bahamas.

Of course, the academy voters may well be swinging back to a more provincial attitude after several years of sending the Oscars abroad. But those voters very often reflect the feeling of the American movie-going public, as they did in naming the immensely popular "The Sound of Music" as best picture of 1965 despite the deprecations of high-brow critics.

Could it be that the American public is satiated with British entertainment?

I'm beginning to think so. I find nothing unfriendly in this, because Americans generally admire the British and especially support them in their present plight. Nearly everyone agrees that the English are the world's best actors, and they have also proved to be the most imaginative directors in recent times.

But you can get too much of a good thing, especially if it has a foreign sound. For five years or more, Americans have been subjected to a steady stream of Oxonian, Cockney, Liverpudlian and other accents native to the British Isles. Is it any wonder that audiences welcomed the flat Midwest tones of "Bonnie and Clyde" and the Southern Drawls of "In the Heat of the Night"?

Holidays on Nearest Monday

BOSTON (AP)—A bill observing three major holidays on the nearest Monday to the date they fall was signed Tuesday by Gov. John A. Volpe.

Effective next year, Washington's birthday will be celebrated on the third Monday of February, Patriot's Day on the third Monday of April, and Memorial Day on the last Monday of May. Labor and business groups supported the bill, which veterans' organizations opposed.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bittel

HAPPY LEAP YEAR!

Dear Readers: Happy Leap Day! Or does anyone remember that today happens only once every four years?

You know, this is my third Leap Year as a columnist, and the first when not one single correspondent has mentioned it. I even forgot February 28th myself until I wrote the date on my copy.

Sad... What with wars, riots, bombs, disasters—pleasant little games like Leap Year Tag have somehow lost their zing.

Dear Helen: I've been going with this boy for two years. Last month we went to a party and there was booze. It got pretty wild. Now I think I'm pregnant.

Two weeks afterwards this boy and I broke up because we both felt so guilty and ashamed that we couldn't face each other. I never thought this could happen. We both had discussed sex and both agreed that it should wait till after marriage.

I wish I was able to talk to him, as I still love him. But every time we see each other at school, we just stutter a

"hello" and walk away. My parents don't know. I can't tell them. There's no one to talk with. I've ruined everything just because I thought it was "big" to be with the drinking crowd. — SO ASHAMED

Dear Ashamed: ... And the drinking crowd, when they hear, will probably make jokes about the dumb kid who got caught. It's a high price to pay for a little booze.

Your parents will see you through. The boy's folks may even help with the bills. But you'll never go back to how it was before. You'll never quite erase the misery caused from this one mistake—even though, hopefully, you aren't pregnant. I wish I could ship you a big gift-wrapped package of comfort and sympathy. But I keep remembering: no one forced you into that wild party, and no one poured drinks down your throat.

Only YOU are responsible for your actions. I'm sorry you had to learn this the hard way. — H

Dear Helen: Somebody suggested in your column that they divide schools so that each has four grades—lower elementary, higher elementary and high school. Our town did that, and it's miserable! We are eighth graders in "higher elementary," which includes fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades. It seems like we're all treated like fifth graders. We aren't allowed to have dances, cheerleaders, Girls Athletic Association, or even graduation exercises. They show us movies like "Snow White." Their idea of a party is a valentine exchange or prizes for the best Halloween costume!

I'm all for junior high schools, as they get you ready for senior high. Now can we older kids show the principal we're — NEARLY 14, NOT 10

Dear 14: Unless the PTA sees your point, I'm afraid you'll have to wait for high school. So let the PTA know, via your mothers, how you feel. Good luck! — H

Riot Report to Favor Tax Incentives

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's Commission on Civil Disorders will recommend that tax incentives be granted industry to enlist its aid in combating unemployment in the slums.

Republicans in Congress have repeatedly advocated such a move, but their legislation has been firmly resisted by the Johnson administration and by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., the House's strong man on tax legislation.

Sources disclosed the commission's tax incentive recommendation soon after the 11-member panel completed and unanimously approved its massive report on the riots that rocked the nation last summer.

The bulky document, to be issued this weekend, will be "uncomfortable for everybody, not just the government," said Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, commission chairman.

Under the commission's recommendation, tax incentives would be given industries that located plants in slums and depressed areas. Similar incentives would go to firms that undertook programs to train unemployed slum residents.

The sources would not divulge other details, but it was understood the proposals were similar to the Republican-sponsored legislation strongly opposed by the Treasury Department. Republicans have billed their measures as alternatives to Democratic anti-poverty programs.

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has spoken out repeatedly against tax credits, saying any such step "which reduces budget receipts is just as likely to force a general tax increase as appropriations for direct expenditures."

There were other indications that the commission's final report would criticize present administration anti-poverty programs.

One commission member, Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., told the Senate Appropriations Committee Wednesday that federal anti-poverty programs in Detroit, Newark and New Haven, Conn., "were never able to reach enough of people who so sorely needed them. Only small fractions of eligible people have been assisted."

Legislative Meet Called Historic

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Wednesday the recently completed special session of the legislature was "historic."

He said it was "symbolic of the fact that Arkansas, its legislature, its administration are looking ahead in terms of quality."

The governor, in a speech before the Pulaski County Bar Association, expressed hope that between now and the next special session "we will have a better understanding of what it's going to take if we are going to have in the immediate and long-range future an educational system of quality."

Rockefeller also said that there were more reasons each day why he believed that the state needs a jury wheel system, under which jurors are chosen by lot rather than by jury commissioners.

"I hope that those of you who've searched your conscience in that matter will join forces with many of us who feel as strongly as we do on this particular spot," he said.

However, he said he doesn't intend to include the matter in the May special session because he wants to confine it to fiscal matters.

He said the governor who faces the regular legislative session next year will have to face fiscal problems.

"We might as well look at them now, not in terms of just another blizzard, but in terms of where Arkansas will be in five or 10 years," Rockefeller said.

On another topic, Rockefeller said he must wait for the State Police's Criminal Investigation Division to complete its study before the "background of the situation" at the penitentiary is known.

"We cannot move until that study is complete," he said. "A tremendous amount of information that has come in has to be rejudged, re-evaluated before we know precisely what our problem is from that side."

"Secondly, we are aware of the fact that there is a grand jury in session down at Star City," he said. "That grand jury's actions will have a considerable bearing on what happens next in terms of the diggins, if you will."

McNamara Praised by President

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert S. McNamara completes today a record seven-year tour as secretary of defense, praised by President Johnson as a "brilliant and good man" but with some of his basic policies under heavy attack.

The military brass, some of whom are not sorry to see him go, arranged a gaudy good-bye for the 51-year-old McNamara, complete with a 19-gun artillery salute, band music, an honor guard of troops and a "fly-over" of war planes.

Somewhat thoughtfully included in the fly-over three Air Force F-111s, once called the TFX and symbols of one of the great unresolved controversies of the defense chief's administration.

McNamara, who received the Medal of Freedom from Johnson in an emotional ceremony Wednesday at the White House, was in line for another medal to be pinned on at the Pentagon ceremony.

He was expected to leave tonight for a month-long vacation in Aspen, Colo., before taking on his new job as president of the World Bank on April 1.

Waiting to step into McNamara's office was Clark Clifford, long-time Washington lawyer and political figure who will be sworn in Friday by Johnson.

McNamara's seven years, one month and eight days as Pentagon chief is a record that may stand for a long time. It eclipses the previous mark of four years, eight months and 12 days set by the late Charles E. Wilson in the Eisenhower administration.

Some critics — and some friends — say McNamara stayed too long. Perhaps he would agree, because recently he said wistfully that he was counting the days until he could put down the burdens of his back-breaking job.

Probably McNamara's greatest disappointment and frustration is the Vietnam war. He once remarked to a visitor: "Who would have thought it would last so long?"

Poes used to call it "McNamara's war," but late last year some war policy critics found themselves anguished by the announcement that he was leaving the Pentagon. Belatedly, some of them came to regard him as a restraining influence on Johnson and the military chiefs.

Even his critics acknowledge McNamara achieved some brilliant reforms.

There is general acknowledgment that the fundamental alteration of the budgeting system and of management of the enormously complex Defense Department is McNamara's great monument.

Johnson referred to this Wednesday while bestowing what he noted was the highest award a President can confer on a civilian, "Bob McNamara may not have accomplished the impossible," Johnson said. "But he has achieved the unlikely; managing, and directing the huge complexity that is our defense establishment."

McCellan Critical of ABA Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., Wednesday criticized the American Bar Association for adopting a resolution proposing restrictions on information about pending crime cases.

"I believe such restrictions amount to a serious and unwarranted erosion of a vital freedom and would only invite future restrictions that could shackle the press severely and deny the public the free flow on information to which it is entitled," he told the Senate.

"A defendant's right to a fair trial need not overlap another basic freedom—freedom of the press," he said.

"Both the rights are basic and very rarely come into conflict," he said. "This is because the news media have generally been alert to their responsibilities and have many times demonstrated an interest in protecting a defendant's rights—especially in cases of sensational crimes."

ROMNEY DROPS From Page one

what was going on. They learned nothing, but in a little while Romney was awake and sending out letters to fellow GOP governors reporting what most of them knew. "My candor has not won the wide acceptance with rank and file Republicans which is essential to success."

He was bowing out before the New Hampshire primary, Romney said, because "this is a critical moment." He seemed to be saying that if the Republican governors wanted a candidate other than Richard M. Nixon they had better get moving now.

Then, wearing a blue suit, and a tie showing gold GOP elephants gamboling on a dark blue background, Romney strode out of his room and down the corridor past a sign which said in red letters: "Exit."

Walking rapidly, with a slight swagger, he reached a door to the huge room where a crowd of newsmen awaited his entrance, and stopped short.

The television cameras were live and Romney wanted to make his exit on cue.

"Three minutes, s o m e o n e called."

"Good," said Romney. Killing time, he turned to talk to a reporter. He regretted nothing, he said. He particularly valued the experience of his trips, to the slums of the big cities, to Vietnam and to Europe.

"One minute, governor," Had he been in touch with his principal supporters, New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today?

"No," Then, after a moment of thought, "I tried to reach him like the other governors, but he was out."

Did he get in touch with Nixon?

Romney shook his head, no.

Had he informed Nixon of his intention to withdraw?

Another shake of the head.

Then it was time. George Romney stuck out his jaw and walked out into the glare of the camera lights to tell the reporters what most of them had already heard:

"I have just informed the Republican governors by letter of my decision to withdraw as candidate for President of the United States."

Charges Youth Obsessed With Killing Idea

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Prosecutor Jack Graves said Wednesday that Allen Smith, a 17-year-old El Dorado white youth charged with first-degree murder, was obsessed with the idea of killing a Negro.

Smith is charged with the shotgun slaying of Larry Wainwright, 19, Negro, of El Dorado, on Sept. 30, 1967.

Graves said Smith boasted that he would throw a Negro off the Ouachita River Bridge the night of the slaying before leaving a party.

Graves told the all-white, all-male jury that Smith fired from a moving automobile and killed Wainwright with a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun.

Three witnesses testified that Smith had talked about his boast. Charles Clowney, 18, of El Dorado said the boast apparently had been precipitated by the fact that some Negro students had scrawled "vulgar words" on the wall at the high school.

Defense Atty. Robert Compton said the state's evidence was purely circumstantial. He said Graves would be unable to show a motive, because Smith had no reason to kill a person he didn't know and had never seen.

Earlier, Graves withdrew a motion for continuance of the trial after a witness, Gerald Carney, 19, of El Dorado made a voluntary appearance in court. Carney had been reported missing by the state Tuesday.

Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Smith of El Dorado.

McCord to Sell His Newspaper

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — It was disclosed Wednesday that Robert S. McCord, 39, of North Little Rock plans to sell his weekly newspaper and join the staff of the Arkansas Democrat.

It was reported that McCord, who worked the North Little Rock Times into a major voice in the state's newspaper field, will acquire shares in the Democrat and become editor of its editorial page.

The Times will be bought by Tom Riley, business manager of the weekly.

Psychological Tests Move to Baseball

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer Black is to white as night is to: A — Green. B — Day. C — Evening. D — Morning.

Psychological testing, long a method for gaining insight into students, job applicants and draftees is being adopted to baseball.

Anxious to learn all they can about their athletes, Pittsburgh officials invited Dr. Tom Tutko, a San Jose State psychologist, to administer a motivational test to the Pirates.

Joe L. Brown, general manager of the Pirates, said several pro football teams have used the tests, long a favorite of large companies across the country.

"I want to emphasize," said Brown, "that our sixth place finish has nothing to do with our club taking the tests. If we had won every game last year and won the World Series in four games, I still would have suggested the tests."

Brown says the tests were designed for club officials to learn more about the Pirates, and Gil Hodges, new manager of the New York Mets, has learned something about his club in the few days since training began.

The Mets, Hodges learned,

don't have a third baseman. "We've got to come up with one," said Hodges. "Anytime you use more than two men at one position, you're in trouble."

New York used 11 men at third base in 1967 and finished 10th, which is trouble.

Alvin Dark, another new manager who inherited an eighth place Cleveland team, said only first baseman Tony Horton and third baseman Max Alvis are assured of regular jobs with the Indians.

Ollie Brown, an outfielder, signed his contract with San Francisco and Baltimore's Boog Powell took a cut from the Orioles.

Tony Conigliaro, Boston's slugging outfielder, put in a length batting drill against the pitching machine and pronounced his left eye 100 percent fit. Conigliaro missed the last six weeks of the 1967 season when he was struck in the face by a pitched ball.

"My eye is perfect," said Conigliaro. "There is no blur whatsoever. I can't wait to get at live pitching."

Conigliaro gets that chance today.

Atlanta pitcher Clay Carroll suffered a broken left ankle while running in the outfield and will be out for a month to six weeks.

Ailments of Others Are Hurting 76ers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Things are going so badly for the crippled San Francisco Warriors that they're even getting hurt by other club's ailments.

The Warriors, with three players sidelined by injuries, bowed to Boston 135-130 in a National Basketball Association game Wednesday night. In the only other NBA game, New York squeezed past Baltimore 126-122.

In the American Basketball Association, Jimmy Ray led Indiana's double overtime 122-116 victory over Oakland.

John Havlicek, who started for the Celtics because Sam Jones came down with the flu, poured in a first half club record 30 points and finished with 41 as Boston battered the Warriors.

Jones held the old Boston one-half record with 29 points.

The Warriors were without Rudy LaRusso, Jim King and Joe Ellis. LaRusso and Ellis have leg injuries and King has an aggravated groin injury.

Jeff Mullins led San Francisco with 26 points.

Dick Barnett scored five points in the final minute as the Knicks came back to beat Baltimore.

The Bullets, led by Earl

Monroe's 40 points, had wiped out a 14-point deficit and took the lead with 2½ minutes to play. Then Barnett and Walt Frazier helped New York put it out.

Willis Reed canned 28 points for the Knicks, who shot a torrid 60 per cent in the first half and won their 10th game in the last 12. Barnett finished with 24.

Ray scored half of his 18 points in the second overtime as Indiana outlasted Oakland.

Fred Lewis led the Pacers with 30 points and Ron Franz had 29 for Oakland.

LIU Still Picked the Best Team

Election day in The Associated Press' final small-college basketball poll of the season will be held next week and a lot probably will depend on what Rhyme, dropped out.

Three of the top five ranking votes in parentheses and total points will end their regular campaigns then. LIU, the leader 24 on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. Long Island U. (8) 152
2. Kentucky Wesleyan (3) 125
3. Pan American 90
4. Southwestern La. (2) 88
5. Illinois State (1) 68
6. Evansville (1) 62
7. McNeese State 61
8. Norfolk State (1) 49
9. Trinity, Tex. 29
10. Indiana State 27

LIU's spread is not insurmountable. The Blackbirds lead Kentucky Wesleyan by 27 points. They accumulated 152 points, including 80 for eight first-place votes, in the latest poll based on games through last Saturday.

Kentucky Wesleyan had 125 points and was named the top team on three ballots. A total of 17 sports writers and broadcasters on a national panel participated in the balloting, which was based on 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

Pan American moved up from fourth place while Southwestern Louisiana and Illinois State climbed four positions each.

Evansville held sixth place followed in order by McNeese State, Norfolk State, Trinity, Tex., and Indiana State.

Indiana State is the only new basketball poll of the season will team in the Top Ten. Gullford, be held next week and a lot probably will depend on what Rhyme, dropped out.

Pittsburgh Teachers May Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Disputes affecting thousands of public school pupils continued in several areas of the nation today.

Some 1,000 public school teachers in Pittsburgh, Pa., prepared to strike while leaders of Oklahoma's 27,000 public school teachers called for a one-day protest walkout next week.

The strike by about one-third of Florida's teachers entered its ninth day amid conflicting reports on whether Gov. Claude Kirk would sign the state's controversial education spending bill.

And while Albuquerque, N.M., teachers voted to return to the classroom today after a week-long walkout, the 1,500-member San Francisco Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, summoned its members to decide whether to strike.

The San Francisco union executive committee recommended that if the vote is affirmative the strike begin immediately. In contention are some 90 un-demands for improvement in classroom and teaching conditions.

The San Francisco school board refused Tuesday night to act on the union's request to enter immediate negotiations.

School officials in Pittsburgh said classes for 80,000 pupils in 116 schools would be held anyway with nonstriking teachers, administrators, substitutes and volunteers but conceded it would be "extremely difficult."

The dispute between the city and the Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, is over the union's demand for collective bargaining. The rival 1,900-member Pittsburgh Teacher Education Association has said it would not support a strike.

Allegheny County Court Judge John P. Hester issued a preliminary injunction Wednesday barring a walkout, citing a 1947 state law prohibiting strikes by public service employees.

The executive committee of the Oklahoma Education Association, disturbed over the state government's failure to enact an educational program, called for a one-day statewide convention next week.

Gov. Dewey Bartlett, who vetoed a legislative tax increase-teacher pay raise package Tuesday, and legislative leaders will be invited to the teachers meeting.

Florida State School Supt. Floyd Christian said Wednesday Kirk had assured him he would sign a $245.5 million education package today but the governor's office termed the statement misleading and promised clarification.

About one-third of the state's 1.3 million public school pupils have been out of school eight class days.

A statement by the Florida Education Association, which is behind the walkout, indicated the teachers would settle for the package plus some other adjustments. The union said it was hopeful agreement could be reached by Friday.

New Mexico teachers agreed to return after Gov. David Cargo agreed with the New Mexico Education Association to allow an emergency task force to seek solutions to the school system's finance troubles.

The teachers want higher salaries, better facilities and material and fewer pupils. They threatened new action if no solution is reached by April 15.

Schools in the Wellston, Mo., school district, a St. Louis suburb, were to be closed today as the district's 100 teachers met to discuss a financial crisis which threatens their salaries.

And at Matineus Island, Maine, teacher Tagdh Hanna closed his one-room, 13 pupil school, called it a firetrap and said it should be replaced.

Busing Plan Dealt Blow in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Half of a controversial school pupil busing proposal has been vetoed and the other half postponed by the Chicago Board of Education but busing advocates still see life in their project.

Hundreds of persons marched and carried signs as the board met Wednesday to vote on the plan, climaxing two months of public hearings, demonstrations and boycotts touched off when the board approved the busing concept in principle.

The proposal introduced in December was designed to relieve overcrowded inner city schools and promote integration. The project proposed to transport 1,035 pupils from predominantly Negro, overcrowded school to some with vacant classroom space in nearby white neighborhoods.

The section of the plan which was to affect parts of the Northwest section of the city was vetoed by a tie vote. A majority vote was necessary to approve the plan.

Despite the vote, several board members voiced hope that a compromise plan introduced Wednesday might be reconsidered at the board's next meeting March 13. The compromise would make the vetoed portion of the busing proposal voluntary.

The second section of the plan, affecting Chicago's South Shore area, was sent back to James F. Redmond, schools superintendent. The board directed him to work with residents of the South Shore to revise the plan and make it acceptable for implementation this fall.

The busing issue sparked a controversy similar to the uproar concerning the board's deliberations in 1965 over whether to retain Benjamin C. Willis as school superintendent.

Willis's resignation was demanded by civil rights leaders who marched daily on City Hall. They claimed his policies resulted in de facto segregation in the Chicago school system. Willis had refused to alter neighborhood school districts to promote integration.

At that time, school board members were victims of vicious telephone calls and bomb threats. In 1966, Willis resigned, explaining he did so to resolve "a current dilemma of the board of education."

In the busing controversy, backers of the proposal included educational experts, church and civic groups as well as many white and Negro citizens.

Among opponents were foes of integration and critics who objected not only to the concept of pupil busing but also to the abrupt manner in which the school board unveiled the plan and pronounced it mandatory.

Education Oversold, Some Argue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The dream of a college education for all young Americans, so dear to the hearts of parents and politicians, is being called into serious question on Capitol Hill.

The charge has been made in Congress that the four of every five American youths who now fail to complete college are victims of a national obsession with the goal of a college education for everyone.

Even in the academic world itself it has been argued that educators have oversold the idea of a college education as the key to success.

A better goal for a national education policy, said these critics, is some sort of vocational education for all—some preparation for choosing, getting and holding a decent job. A college education may be a good way for some to get such preparation, they say but it's not the only way.

Yet in a nation where only one youth in five graduates from college, the federal government contributes nearly three times as much money to support higher education than vocational education. And the total has remained fairly level for three years in vocational education while rising rapidly for higher education.

Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., one of the strongest advocates of better vocational education, estimates 90 per cent of those who come into the job market without a college degree have never learned a marketable skill.

The bitter fruits of this policy, he says, are staggering rates of unemployment among young people and the $1 billion a year the government spends on work-training programs to rehabilitate them.

The framework for a national policy of universal vocational education has been prepared by a special advisory council appointed by John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare.

It suggests occupational preparation begin in elementary school with "a realistic picture of the world of work" in junior high school, it says, all students study the economic and industrial system to become acquainted with the range of job choices available.

Specific job training should be given in high school to all students not planning to go to college. And two years of post-secondary school training in advanced skills should be offered free as part of the education system.

The council recommends that meanwhile, existing programs should be greatly expanded and federal expenditures increased from the present $350 million a year to $1.5 billion.

The administration has accepted some of these proposed remedies but its response to the suggested increase in spending was to ask for another $15 million to fund pilot programs in the states.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., presiding over current hearings on the administration request, bluntly told the witnesses it was not enough. "This is just a start," he said. "The goal must be legislation which provides an education for meaningful work and full employability."

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF SALE
$210,000 Hempstead County, Arkansas General Obligation Industrial Development Bonds

Pursuant to Order of the County Court of Hempstead County, Arkansas notice is hereby given that Hempstead County will sell to the highest bidder its proposed issue of $210,000 Hempstead County General Obligation Industrial Development Bonds, (called "bonds"), being issued under Amendment No. 49 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, dated June 1, 1967, bearing interest at the rate of 5 1/2 percent per annum, payable semiannually on June 1 and December 1 of each year, commencing December 1, 1967 and maturing on June 1 of each year as follows:

YEAR	AMOUNT
1970	6,000
1971	6,000
1972	7,000
1973	7,000
1974	8,000
1975	8,000
1976	10,000
1977	10,000
1978	11,000
1979	12,000
1980	13,000
1981	14,000
1982	15,000
1983	15,000
1984	16,000
1985	17,000
1986	17,000
1987	18,000

The bonds will be general obligations of Hempstead County to the payment of which the County will pledge its full faith, credit and taxing power under Amendment No. 49 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, including particularly a 1/2 mill special continuing annual tax on the dollar of the assessed valuation of the taxable real and personal property in the County, subject, however to the provisions hereafter set forth pertaining to the suspension of the collection of said tax. The assessed valuation of the taxable real and personal property in the County according to the 1967 assessment, the latest assessment of record is $16,175,855.

The proceeds of the bonds will be used, together with available funds, for acquiring land and constructing and equipping a manufacturing building (called "Project"), to be leased to and operated by Hope Wire Products, Incorporated, (called "Hope Wire"). Hope Wire presently conducts manufacturing operations in Hempstead County which have developed to the point that enlarged industrial operations are necessary. The Project will be leased to Hope Wire and the lease rentals and any other revenues derived from the Project may be applied to the payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds. In this regard, provision will be made by the County in the Order authorizing the issuance of the bonds for the suspension of the collection of the special tax as long as there is no default by the Lessee under the Lease Agreement. The conditions in the Authorizing Order will be such that there will be no partial suspension so that there will be available for the payment of the principal of and interest on bonds either the entire proceeds of the tax or the lease rentals under the Lease Agreement.

The purchaser may name the bank of payment and shall have the right to convert the bonds to an issue bearing a lower rate or rates of interest with any conversion to be in accordance with the Universal Bond Values Tables and upon such terms that the County receive no less and pay no more than it would receive and pay if the bonds were not converted. Any conversion will be subject to the approval of the bank of payment and the County Court. The expenses of the issue, including the printing and trustee of the bonds and the fee of Smith, Williams, Friday & Bowen, Bond Counsel, of Little Rock, Arkansas, upon whose approving opinion the bonds will be issued, will be paid by the County.

The bonds will be callable for payment prior to maturity in inverse numerical order at par and accrued interest as follows: from surplus tax collections and surplus lease rentals on any interest payment date; from funds from any source on any interest payment date on and after June 1, 1977. The County will covenant that surplus tax collections and surplus lease rentals, being the amount in excess of that necessary to insure the prompt payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds as the same become due, must be used from time to time on each interest payment date for the redemption of bonds prior to maturity.

No bid of less than par and accrued interest on the basis of an interest rate of 5 1/2 percent per annum will be entertained and no contingent provisions may be inserted in any bid. The award, if made, will be to the bidder whose bid results in the lowest net interest cost to the County, to be determined by computing the aggregate interest cost to the County from the date of the bonds to maturity and deducting therefrom any premium bid. The County reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

The bonds will be sold upon auction bids, the sale to be held at 2:30 o'clock p.m., on the 14 day of March, 1968, at the office of the County Judge of Hempstead County Courthouse, Hope, Arkansas. Each bidder will be required to deposit a certified or cashier's check in the amount of $4,200 on a bank that is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, payable to the County, to be retained as liquidated damages in the event the bidder is awarded the sale of the bonds but fails to complete the purchase. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned. Interest will not be paid on good faith checks.

For further information address Stephens, Inc., Little Rock, Arkansas, the County's Fiscal Agent, or the undersigned.

GIVEN this 13 day of February, 1968.

Opening lead—A Q

When you play Blackwood the follow-up bid of five no-trump asks for kings in the same manner that four no-trump asked for aces. There is one essential difference here. You may well ask for aces when you don't have an ace in your hand with the intention of stopping at five if your partner only holds two of them. Of course, if he only holds one you won't make five odd but you should never use Blackwood if you aren't sure that your side had as many as two aces.

When you ask for kings you are committed to a slam and you only ask to explore grand slam possibilities. Therefore the follow-up five no-trump bid not only asks for kings but tells your partner that your side holds all the aces. When you bid four no-trump your partner must accept your judgment if you proceed to place the contract. When you follow up with five no-trump he may go to a grand slam on his own initiative.

South was going to six spades if his partner showed one ace in response to the Blackwood four no-trump. When North showed two aces South was tempted to go right to seven on his own hook but there was no guarantee that North would hold both spade and diamond kings. Therefore South continued to five no-trump to find out.

North could have responded six hearts to show that he held two kings but North saw no reason to waste any time. His partner's five no-trump call had guaranteed all the aces. It had also shown interest in a grand slam contract and an addition to this was that South now was interested primarily in kings.

In that case it was a cinch to mark South with the queen of spades and either the queen of diamonds or shortage in that suit. At worst it might be necessary to set up the diamond suit for discards.

Actually, that wasn't necessary. South drew trumps, discarded one of North's clubs on a good heart and ruffed out his small heart and small club.

A—Pass. You have told your partner you have no aces. You have placed the contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding five diamonds your partner bids four no-trump over your four spades. You bid five hearts and he bids five no-trump. What do you do now?

Gamecocks Just Might Take Title

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wouldn't it be something if unranked South Carolina won the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball championship tournament and snatched an NCAA tournament berth away from third-ranked North Carolina and 10th-ranked Duke?

Such a possibility, far fetched only a week ago, moved out of the realm of dreams Wednesday night when the Gamecocks snapped North Carolina's 20-game winning streak 87-86 in the spotlight of a busy night in college basketball.

It was another feather in the cap of Coach Frank McGuire and made the Gamecocks a factor to be reckoned with in the ACC tourney next week. Only five days ago South Carolina upset Duke 56-50.

North Carolina is the runaway leader in the conference, but the tournament decides the NCAA bid.

Bob Cremins, a 150-pound 6-foot-3 sophomore from New York City, paced the Gamecocks with a career high of 23 points and 15 rebounds.

Down 46-33 at the half, South Carolina rallied to go ahead by nine points, then held off the Tar Heels' late surge led by Larry Miller with 26 points.

Duke, the only other team in The Associated Press Top Ten to play, rebounded from its South Carolina defeat to whip North Carolina State 71-61 at Raleigh. Mike Lewis led the Blue Devils with 29 points and 18 rebounds.

Calvin Murphy, Niagara's 5-10 soph star, the No. 2 scorer in the nation, was held to his college low of 15 points as the Purple Eagles lost in overtime at home to Syracuse 50-49.

Long Island, the No. 1 small college team in the AP poll, and St. Peter's, N.J., each accepted invitations to the National Invitation Tournament, upping the NIT field to seven with seven selections still to come.

The announcement was made at halftime of the Long Island-St. Peter's game in Jersey City, N.J. St. Peter's then went on to hand Long Island its first defeat of the season 70-59, ending a 20-game winning streak.

In other games involving tournament-bound teams, Oklahoma City of the NIT whipped Centenary 114-95 at home behind Rich Travis' 44 points. Chicago Loyola of the NCAA downed Western Michigan 85-73 at home. Virginia Tech, also at home, downed Bowling Green of the NCAA 77-71.

Boston College, NCAA-bound, scored on the road over Duquesne of the NIT 104-88 in a rough game that saw Moe Barr of the Dukes and Terry Driscoll of Boston College ejected for fighting.

Dayton made it nine straight by clobbering St. Joseph's of Indiana 99-66 at home and Iowa state missed tying Kansas State for the Big Eight lead by losing on the road to Colorado 91-76.

Baseball Players in Agreement

MIAMI (AP) — Major league players representatives ratified a two-year agreement Wednesday, calling for binding arbitration by the commissioner of baseball in any dispute arising between the 20 clubs and players.

The agreement, agreed to in principle by player representatives and owners a week earlier, also sets the minimum player salary at $10,000—an increase of $3,000—and gives the players a greater voice in contractual matters.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the players' Association, said the player representatives accepted the arbitration clause after agreeing on several procedural changes in the manner of settling grievances.

"We feel that we have tightened up the steps in settling any grievances, subject to the players' approval, before such disputes might come before the commissioner," Miller said.

The players previously had questioned the commissioner's role as an impartial judge, as he is selected by the owners.

Miller said the changes in the uniform players contract prohibits unilateral alterations by club managements during the two-year agreement, ending Dec. 21, 1969, and requires negotiations with the players on any changes after that.

Other measures ratified at the meeting included:

— A study of the reserve clause, which presently binds a player to the club with which he is under contract, to be completed prior to the termination date of the overall agreement.

— A joint study on the length of the championship season, to be completed prior to the drawing up of the preliminary schedules for 1969.

— A reduction in the allowable salary cut from 25 per cent to 20 per cent of the previous year's contract.

— A $3 hike to $15 in the players' daily regular season meal allowance, an increase from $8 to $12 for daily spring training meals and a boost of miscellaneous spring training disbursements from $25 to $40 a week.

— Adoption of a set of scheduling relations for the 1968-69 seasons, aimed at reducing some of the more unreasonable travel demands on the players.

— The banning of championship or exhibition games during the All-Star break, except for charity purposes. The players selected for the All-Star game would not be required to play in such exhibitions.

— A provision for prompt notification and negotiation with the players' association for player compensation should either the American or National leagues plan divisional playoff games in 1969.

— Provision for moving expenses for players and their families upon promotion from the minors to the majors, between opening day and Sept. 1. Such allowances will continue, as formerly, for players traded on the major league level during the season.

Altitude Will Not Affect Athletes

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Athletes competing in events that demand short bursts of energy will be unaffected by the 7,300-foot altitude of Mexico City at the Summer Olympics, says Dr. Merritt H. Stiles of the U.S. Olympic Committee.

The Spokane heart specialist, chairman of the Olympic unit's Medical and Training Services Committee, writes in the Feb. 26 issue of Modern Medicine Magazine, however, that "performance will be affected in running, swimming, rowing, paddling and cycling events requiring more than two minutes of maximum effort."

The article reports on a study by the medical committee and is titled "The Twin Problems of the XIX Olympiad: Altitude and Enteritis."

"Team efforts, as soccer football, water polo, basketball, field hockey and bout events where exertion is frequently interrupted for a few seconds, should not be affected," writes Dr. Stiles.

Dr. Stiles, a former president of the National Ski Association, suggests the average healthy individual should not be aware he is at 7,300 feet instead of sea level and adds:

"The symptoms which so frequently occur during early exposure to higher altitudes are psychologic in origin . . ."

Hope Cage Season Closed Out

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Just unable to locate a forerunner advantage, the Hope Bobcats wrapped up their season with a 65-54 loss to the Camden Panthers last night at Magnolia in the first round of the Region 4-AA tournament.

Both teams played with gusto, but Camden's height advantage was a big factor in thwarting the Bobcats' hopes for a comeback. From the opening tip both goals appeared to have a lid on top, as nothing hardly was being allowed to drop through. After trailing 5-1 for several minutes, Hope pulled into the game's only tie at 5-all before the Panthers got up an 8-5 margin at the quarter.

The Bobcats managed to stay close for a while, but a four-point run gave Camden a 19-11, which they whipped into 27-17 form by halftime. The Panthers jumped into a 41-27 lead midway in the third period, but the Bobcats suddenly started clicking. After coming as close as five points to the lead, Hope was behind 44-37 entering the final segment.

Foul trouble caught up with the Bobcats in the final period, and they were already badly missing the services of playmaker Richard Saliee, who was out with an injured foot. Never again could Hope get any closer than five points, as the overall play of the Panthers' 6-8 center Mike Martin made the difference in the game. Free throws gave Camden the early insurance that held out under the late fire of the Bobcats' comeback.

Gulfstream Purses Hiked

MIAMI (AP) — Purses at Gulfstream Park will be increased by $81,000 — or about 2 per cent over last year — under an agreement signed Tuesday by Gulfstream President James Donn Jr. and the Florida division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association.

The Gulfstream purse distribution will amount to $2,080,086 during the 44-day meet.

Two Teams Make It to Semifinals

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two teams have made it to the semifinals of the high school state basketball tournaments here, and in six games today the other semifinalists will be named.

Green Forest in Class A and Cotter in Class B got into the semifinals Wednesday night.

Green Forest thumped Eudora East 72-49 as Randy Usrey flipped in 25 points.

Cotter made use of a technical foul in the final 30 seconds to nip Star City Lincoln 49-48. Jim Franks pumped in 23 points for the winners.

In second round action in Class A Wednesday, Marion Phelix clipped Lonoke 76-74 in overtime as Samuel Banks hit 26 points and Willie Daniels 25.

Technical School Night Courses Benefit the Entire Area

Mrs. Al Pasley instructs night students in accounting at Arkansas High School in Texarkana. Classes meet Tuesday nights. Other business courses being cosponsored at Texarkana include typing, shorthand and insurance.

Pat Adcox, right, basic welding instructor, checks Dean Langdon on heat setting for welding. This basic welding class is conducted by Red River Vocational Technical school and Texarkana schools for North American Car Company.

Instructor Sid Dennington, right, demonstrates positioning to apprentice Eddie Suggitt. Pipe Welding is part of the 4-year apprenticeship program.

Learning to fabricate and brazing with silver solder, apprentice Jack McDougal with instructor Sid Dennington, right, observing.

Mike Beth, apprentice, practices brazing while apprentice Jerry McDougal and instructor Sid Dennington observe.

Apprentice Jerry Teer practices lead soldering.

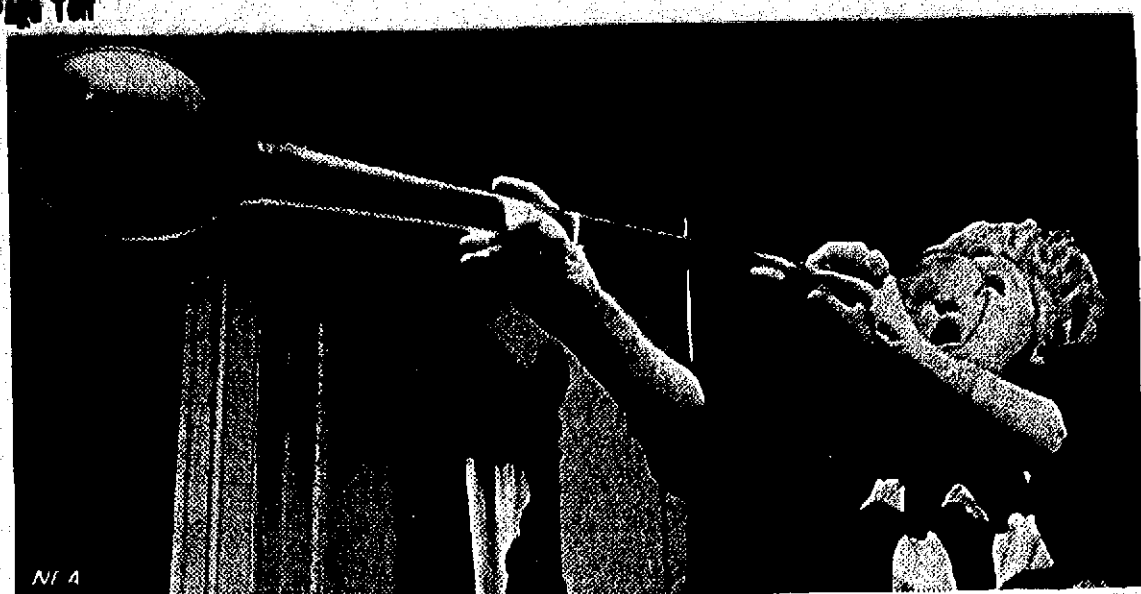

Plumber apprentice Rex Fuqua makes a pass of wiping a lead joint. Insulated gloves are worn in using the molten lead.

The Red River Vocational Technical School serves business and industry through its night extension program both at its home base and in other communities it serves. Examples of this service are in the heavily populated Texarkana area. Almost 300 adults are enrolled in the Texarkana classes. Public school officials of the Arkansas city have been progressive in offering training to its patrons, according to J. W. Rowe, director. J. D. Ryther, school district supervisor, co-ordinates all of the classes with teaching salary funds from Red River Vocational Technical School appropriations. Classes have been held in Glenwood and Malvern this year.

Russian Woman Stricken

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A Russian woman stricken with appendicitis was reported in good condition Tuesday at a U.S. Navy hospital after her evacuation from a Soviet fishing vessel.

The woman was flown to the hospital by a U.S. Coast Guard helicopter, responding to a Russian radio request for assistance. Hospital officials identified her as Lilia Kostina, 28.

The helicopter crew hoisted Miss Kostina aboard at a rendezvous with the vessel Akademik Berg about 140 miles south of San Diego off the Baja California coast of Mexico.

The Case for Water Development in Time of Crisis

A membership notice reminds me that the Red River Valley Association will hold its 43rd annual convention in Shreveport April 15-16 — and that the Bureau of the Budget has approved $28,969,000 for fiscal 1969 water resource projects in Red River valley.

This newspaper is a long-time advocate of water resources development and supports the Red River Valley Association program year in and year out. Currently the federal government is in a financial squeeze, and you might wonder if it isn't inconsistent to preach economy in other fields of federal spending and at the same time advocate a $28-million outlay for public works on Red River.

But some public works are productive, others are not — and common sense should dictate the selection. Just a few years back Hope was offered a new post office and federal building although its existing structure equalled that of cities of 50,000 population, and this newspaper properly opposed the $400,000 outlay — a position which Hope people endorsed in a petition we circulated. The Government built the new post-office regardless, as Government nowadays is prone to do — but we established our point publicly: It's a matter of what is proposed that is important — not its location. Our attack on a new post-office in our own town made headlines from coast to coast.

A new post office adds nothing of productive value to America, in goods or employment — therefore in times of financial crisis such as these, new federal building funds should be curtailed.

But the development of water resources definitely adds to the wealth and employment and productivity of America, regardless where the individual project is situated. And so we support the program nationwide: Our local support of Red River Valley Association is merely incidental to the developments which preceded it in Mississippi, Ohio and Tennessee River valleys.

Whether it's the stuff dreams are made of or the hard core of reality depends not on your point of view but on how much economic information you have. Your editor claims to have a great deal of information. And not merely book information. There were people a couple of generations ago who called the advocates of navigation in the Ohio River valley "dream merchants." But today I have seen the great barges bring thousands of tons of steel down from Pittsburgh on an Ohio River that runs bank-full the year 'round.

Once the Ohio was a crooked, trickling stream in which sandbars made navigation impossible. Today it is a great artery of commerce.

That's progress. That's wealth. That's good. . . any time . . . anywhere.

Snow Closes Schools in East Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow blanketed a large portion of Eastern Arkansas today, causing schools to close and creating hazardous driving conditions.

Hardest hit was the Cross County area where snow drifts of up to 22 inches were reported with two-inch accumulations. Wynne and Cross County schools were closed. Minor accidents were reported in the area.

Forrest City and St. Francis County schools were closed after three inches of snow accumulated in the area. Roads were reported as hazardous.

More than two inches of snow fell in the Phillips County area within about two hours, forcing Helena schools to close. However, skies were reported clearing this morning and the snow was melting.

Romney Drops Out of Contention, Action Is Called Incredible

Rockefeller Draft Move Is Forming

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — George Romney has quit the Republican presidential race without a ballot cast — and the White House draft that New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has promised to answer could be taking shape now.

Rockefeller, most prominent cheerleader in Romney's hectic, fruitless 101-day quest for the GOP presidential nomination, said the wishes of his fellow Republican governors would be a major influence on his future course.

Many of those governors are in Washington today and Romney in withdrawing challenged them to forge a consensus around some other candidate. The Michigan governor acknowledged he has not won rank and file Republican support. He suggested the governors look for another contender who might.

Romney thus admitted he had no hope of defeating front-running former Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican nomination.

Some Republicans were doubtful the governors' agreement Romney recommended could be achieved. But the pressure on Rockefeller clearly was rising.

Rockefeller said once again that he is not a candidate for the nomination he has sought twice before, but that he would accept a draft if one came.

By HARRY KELLY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — No one could really believe it at first.

"It's incredible," said a Michigan politician on Capitol Hill. The rumor said George Romney was pulling out of the Republican presidential race even before the primary in New Hampshire, only 13 days away.

Sure, Romney was an underdog against Richard M. Nixon. He not only admitted it, he insisted he liked the odds.

Besides, who could believe that a man so persistent that he once used 34 balls until he knocked down all 10 pins in bowling would call it quits before the first vote was cast.

Romney did it. As the rumor flashed through the capital, newsmen descended upon the hotel where Republican governors were gathering for a meeting.

They couldn't get to the governor of Michigan. He was in his room, taking a nap. The governor's son, Scott and a state trooper who guards Romney on the road, were in a room down the hall from Romney's. They would barely acknowledge that the governor had indeed called a news conference for some two hours later.

"Is the governor quitting?" a reporter asked.

"If he is, he didn't tell me," said Scott with a grin.

"Where's your mother?" Another grin. "She is camouflaging in Wisconsin."

Telephone calls were coming in, from supporters, and from newsmen, who wanted to know

Boyle Gives Advice on How to Get That Bachelor February 29

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Dear Pavement Plato:

So far I am a Leap Year loser. I have a target — Melvin, the bachelor of my choice.

I feel he loves me. This week he deliberately let me beat him twice in a row at Indian hand wrestling, and last summer when our crowd went on picnics I was the only girl he'd let help him look for four-leaf clovers.

But when I speak of marriage, Melvin just gets a faraway look and pretends he doesn't know what I am talking about. What can I do to win him as a husband?

Rosemary for Remembrance Dear Rosemary:

To begin with, don't lose your cool. There are a lot of girls in your plight, each of whom believes that just because this is Leap Year she'll be able to sweep her own particular Melvin off his feet.

Worm your way into Melvin's life gradually until he will finally decide himself that you are indispensable to his happiness.

As most bachelors today are looking for security above everything else, do everything in your power to bolster Melvin's self-confidence.

If you go bowling or play pool together, let him win two times out of three, even though you have to play left-handed to do so.

Don't take him to your apartment to show him how well you See BOYLE GIVES On (Page two)

Housing Big Issue in Rights Fight

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. M. Dirksen is moving to force a Senate showdown vote on a civil rights bill banning discrimination in sale or rental of most American housing.

A vote on Dirksen's petition to end debate — which needs two-thirds approval of those voting to carry — is scheduled for today.

Dirksen helped forge a Southern-Republican conservative coalition that twice earlier beat back bids to end the debate. He has since played a leading role in nailing together a compromise bill.

Some Southern senators objected Wednesday to his petition, saying it wouldn't give them a chance to study the com-

Religious Group Meets Here Friday

Eugene Shuster, Presiding Minister of the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced today that plans are proceeding smoothly and final preparations are being made to accommodate some 600 ministers expected to be in attendance here for the Spring Circuit Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses. The delegation will convene at the Fair Park Coliseum, Friday at 6:30 p.m.

It was learned that many of the 23 department supervisors were arriving in Hope today to take up their volunteer assignments necessary to operate the convention effectively.

"Ministers from all over the state donate their time and talent toward making the assembly a spiritually rewarding three days for all in attendance," Shuster said.

The convention program includes the ministry development school on Friday evening, a public speaking program and the Baptism of new ministers Saturday and the public talk on Sunday, which will be the highlight of the convention.

This tale, "Why Does God Permit Wickedness?" will aid visitors and delegates alike to appreciate the Bible and its place in our modern times.

"The program is designed to appeal to persons of all ages," said Shuster, "and all residents of Hope are cordially invited to attend."

Retardation Center Planned by SWADC to Be Located in Hope

Arthur Strech, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Southwest Arkansas Development Council, the community action agency serving Miller, Hempstead, Howard, Little River and Lafayette Counties, announced today that the Agency is planning two centers to serve the mentally retarded of this area.

A main center will be located in the Hope area, and a sub-center will be located in the Agency's Neighborhood Service Center in Wilton, Arkansas, Little River County.

The Center will coordinate its efforts and receive support from the Southwest Diagnostic and Remedial Center of Magnolia, and the Greater Texarkana Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center.

SWADC plans to coordinate the resources of the State Rehabilitation Department, the State Educational Department, and the Individual County organizations on Mental Retardation.

The plans include a day care facility for the mentally retarded, and also plans to place strong emphasis in working with the 12-16 year old retardates. The Agency's 9 passenger buses will be used to assist in the transportation of the children to the centers.

As the project grows, it will also provide facilities for vocational training for adult retardates.

Though plans are being made to begin the program almost immediately, the size and scope of the program will require much time and work and coordination to reach its full implementation.

Meetings with interested people will be held in each county during the month of March, and interested persons are urged to attend these meetings when they are announced.

Mike Carozza, SWADC executive director, stated that the two centers will be directed by Mrs. Nonalee Stewart, Mrs. Anne Douglas, and Clinton Briggs of the SWADC staff who have had experience in working with exceptional children.

The program is designed to serve Miller, Hempstead, Lafayette, Howard, Little River, Ser-vier and Nevada Counties.

Troop Escalation in Vietnam Will Generate Call for More Taxes

By JOSHUA R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Any escalation of U.S. troop strength in Vietnam may reportedly generate an administration call for a tax hike even higher than its 10 per cent surcharge proposal before Congress.

Government officials emphasize they believe the current situation — and they stress current — requires at the very least a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes.

Congress has been cool to the whole idea of hiking taxes and the administration has left the way clear to accept less than the 10 per cent proposal if necessary.

But any major increase in U.S. forces in Vietnam would force the administration to at least consider a higher rate. The reason: The cost of sending one man to Vietnam for a year is estimated at up to $40,000, if 50,000 more troops were authorized, the cost would be $2 billion a year.

Chairman Earle G. Wheeler of the Joint Chiefs of Staff conferred Wednesday with President Johnson amid speculation of increases in troop strength in Vietnam and a possible new call-up of reserves.

There was no official indication, however, of what course the administration would take. In the present economic situation, one per cent of the surcharge means about $1 billion in additional revenues.

The last time troop strength was escalated, Johnson coupled his announcement with a formal request to Congress for the 10

ROMNEY-REPUBLICANS

The draft Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has promised to answer could be taking shape now following Gov. George Romney's withdrawal from the Republican presidential race.

Republican governors may be able to build a bloc of more than 400 presidential nominating votes for Gov. Rockefeller if they decide to unite behind him.

"Now we are waiting for the other shoe to drop," says an aide of Richard M. Nixon, who is waiting to see whether Gov. Rockefeller will enter the GOP campaign.

Gov. Romney is a man so persistent he once used 34 balls until he knocked down all 10 bowling pins. So it was a surprise when he called it quits before a vote was cast.

Bill Amends Income Tax
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller signed into law Wednesday a bill which amends the state income tax withholding law. The law now conforms to the federal law in medical and dental exemptions, effective with 1967 returns.

The governor also signed into law a bill requiring a financial statement from an industry for which a city or county proposes to issue industrial development bonds.

Big Copter Shot Down, 19 Killed

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Guided by radar, U.S. Air Force fighter-bombers flew through overcast skies today to attack targets in the Hanoi area for the second day in a row.

"We have no operational reports yet," a U.S. spokesman said.

The North Vietnamese news agency said U.S. planes raided Hanoi and its suburbs and one American jet was shot down. Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported that residential quarters in the center of Hanoi were hit.

The radar-guided American warplanes attacked three vital targets around Hanoi and Haiphong on Wednesday, including an army barracks hit for the first time in the war. But the U.S. Command announced Communist gunners shot down a big four-engine C130 transport plane and three helicopters over South Vietnam, and an F105 Thunder-chief fighter-bomber over the North.

One of the helicopters was a big U.S. Marine CH46 Sea Knight that was downed 11 miles northeast of the Marine fortress at Khe Sanh, in the northwest corner of South Vietnam. All 19 servicemen aboard the Sea Knight were killed, the U.S. Command said.

The latest North Vietnamese target to come off the Pentagon's restricted list was the Chue Son army barracks 12 miles southwest of Hanoi. Air Force F4 Phantom's raked it during 70 missions down Wednesday, but overcast skies swamped by the northeast monsoon prevented assessment of damage.

Navy A-6 all-weather intruders made the third attack in four days on the railroad yard 1.7 miles northwest of the center of Haiphong as well as a repeat raid on a radio communications receiver station 10 miles south of Hanoi. Again weather prevented a survey of the damage.

The Haiphong railroad yard is on the main Haiphong-Hanoi line, and much of the war supplies from Red China and other Communist countries funnel through it.

The Hanoi communications station is believed to be a key link in North Vietnam's air defense network and was attacked for the first time in the war Feb. 10.

The big Sea Knight helicopter in which 19 Americans were killed was on a combat mission when it was hit shortly after noon Wednesday by heavy automatic weapons fire. The chopper crashed and exploded between Khe Sanh and Camp Carroll, the U.S. artillery post 16 miles northeast of the big Marine fortress.

The Air Force C130 cargo plane, a $2.5-million work horse of the war, and the other two helicopters were downed near the Song Be airfield 100 miles northeast of Saigon.

Field reports said the C130 was hit by a bazooka-type rocket as it approached the runway to land. The plane made a crash landing and burned but no casualties were reported.

The two helicopters were able to land safely after being hit.

Bomber With Eight Aboard Is Missing

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A B52 bomber with eight persons aboard was missing today after flying over a bombing range in the Gulf of Mexico just off the Texas Coast. No bombs were aboard, an Air Force commander said.

Carswell Air Force Base here said its plane should have returned to Fort Worth by 3:30 a.m. Last contact was 11:13 p.m. Wednesday eight miles south of Matagorda Island.

The Air Force has a bomb range on the island between Corpus Christi and Houston.

Col. Carlton L. Lee, commander of the 79th Bomb Wing here, said three helicopters, three fixed wing aircraft and a Coast Guard vessel entered the search for the bomber

Governors Will Decide on Rockefeller

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican governors might be able to mount a formidable bloc of more than 400 presidential nominating votes for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York if they decide to unite behind him.

Michigan Gov. George Romney's abrupt withdrawal Wednesday from the contest for the GOP nomination left the party's moderates barren of a candidate. The immediate reaction was that they would push the publicly reluctant Rockefeller into the contest.

In his parting advice to his moderate colleagues, who number about 18 of the 26 Republican state executives, Romney called on them to get together quickly behind a standard-bearer who would offer some alternatives to President Johnson's policies—Vietnam included.

If the governors actually do achieve a unity they have not displayed before, they could amass a sizeable chunk of convention votes—mostly from the large industrial states—that might keep former Vice President Richard M. Nixon from sweeping to a bandwagon victory at the Miami Beach, Fla., convention in August.

Romney's decision to pull out seems likely to blunt the effect of what Nixon was counting on as a smashing series of victories in the presidential primaries to establish a new image as a winner.

With the exception of the May 28 Oregon race, where Rockefeller's name might be found on the ballot if he emerges as an active candidate, Nixon will be beating only shadow or write-in candidates. There is no major political profit in that exercise.

If the governors "draft" Rockefeller in a huddle during National Governors Conference sessions underway in Washington, they will count on the New Yorker, campaigning actively for the nomination. He has said he is not a candidate but would respond to a draft.

But if the state executives think they can announce their choice and the convention will acquiesce, they don't know Nixon well enough. He will be in there "slugging" with an almost solid Southern bloc behind him and strongholds in almost every section of the country.

Rockefeller as a candidate would reap support from the belief popular among a great many Republicans that he is the HIGH LIVING is enjoyed by these hogs who like nothing better than to look out the window and watch activity on their farm in McKean County, Pa.

Discharged Friday, Killed in Accident

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — Jerry Wayne Dunn, 21, of Paragould, a Vietnam war veteran who received his discharge from the Army Friday, died Wednesday night at a hospital here of injuries he suffered earlier in the day in a train-truck collision.

Police said Dunn was at man with the best chance to defeat President Johnson in November.

However, the New York governor would have to come out from behind the shield of his state office and take a position on such issues as Vietnam. He has supported resolutions in the past endorsing Johnson's Asian course but has been able to avoid details.

Party conservatives, still angry with him for avoiding active support of Barry Goldwater in 1964, can be expected to start shooting at Rockefeller at once. They long have felt Romney was going nowhere and that the New York governor would be the moderates' candidate.

Court Gets Briefs on G&F Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A brief filed with the Arkansas Supreme Court Wednesday contends that Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller possesses the power to remove members of the state Game and Fish Commission in certain instances.

Rockefeller has said he has evidence of misconduct by some members of the commission and planned to conduct ouster hearings.

However, Chancellor John T. Jernigan of Little Rock ruled the governor could not conduct the hearings because he said provisions of Amendment 35, the Game and Fish Commission amendment, that provided for removal of commissioners were not self-executing. Jernigan said no enabling legislation had been enacted.

Rockefeller's attorney said in the brief, however, Section 5 of the amendment was self-executing. Their brief said the removal power of the governor "is certainly not unlimited or unchecked."

Group Seeks to Build a Dog Track

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two Hot Springs men have filed articles of incorporation in the secretary of state's office for a greyhound race track in Little Rock.

The men, Clyde O. Halk and Harold Land, along with Lang's wife, also filed papers Feb. 15 seeking to establish a harness and dog, cking track at Hot Springs.

"Should Hot Springs... not show adequate interest in obtaining a greyhound racing plant in Garland County, we would welcome the opportunity and invitation to build one of the most modern greyhound racing plants in the nation in Little Rock," Lang said.

Nixon Just Waiting for 'Shoe to Drop'

By REILMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent
MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's camp reacted today to the withdrawal of Gov. George Romney from the race for president with a comment by a Nixon aide who said: "Now we are waiting for the other shoe to drop."

Translated, this means Nixon is waiting to see whether Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York will now enter the field as his chief rival for the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller, disavowing interest in becoming the Republican candidate—or wanting to be president—had been backing Romney's candidacy.

Notwithstanding, Nixon has consistently felt that Rockefeller is a candidate.

The former vice president and Romney had been battling it out to win the New Hampshire presidential primary, March 12.

Nixon's assistants believe Romney dropped out of the race because polls taken within the last few days indicated that Nixon was on the way to an overwhelming victory in New Hampshire and far ahead of Romney nationally.

Nixon, genuinely surprised, declined to discuss the startling development with reporters covering his campaign. He issued a brief statement which said:

"Gov. Romney has waged an energetic and vigorous campaign. I am sure that, as one on the nation's outstanding Republican governors, he will play a major role in Michigan and the nation in assuring the Republican victory in November which is so essential to provide the new leadership America needs."

Patrick Buchanan, one of Nixon's top lieutenants, was asked whether he thought Romney's action robbed Nixon of the opportunity to destroy his "loser image" by a dramatic victory in New Hampshire.

"Quite the contrary," said Buchanan. "We think we have gotten rid of the loser. The fact that Romney withdrew was a demonstration of Nixon's strength."

With regard to Rockefeller, Buchanan said, "Now we are waiting for the other shoe to drop. We would of course welcome Gov. Rockefeller as an opponent in the primaries."

This is consistent with Nixon's position since he announced his candidacy on Feb. 1.

He said then, "The decisive winner of the primaries will and should be nominated. His ideas and ability should be tested in the fire of the primaries, not simply kept in the grandstand and then submitted to the tender mercies of the kingmakers."

Romney's name remains on the ballot in New Hampshire. The ballots already have been printed and Robert Stark, New Hampshire secretary of state, said the governor's name cannot be removed.

Rockefeller has considerable support in New Hampshire, although he asked his backers not to take any actions on his behalf. Nonetheless, they are running as delegates favorable to his candidacy.

Says Now Is Time for Firm Stand

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Former Gov. Sid McMath said Wednesday that "if there ever was a time for this nation to stand firm, it is now."

McMath, considered a possible Democratic opponent of Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was critical in his talk before a civic club here of the review the Senate committee is giving the Gulf of Tonkin incident.

He said the Vietnam war is at a critical stage and that "this is not the time to sound the uncertain trumpet."

"The Tonkin attack is now treated by the Foreign Relations Committee as a single incident, separate and apart from these other provocations and acts of aggression," McMath said.

GIs Up Tight Expecting New Attack

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
KHE SANH, Vietnam (AP) — Through the still, cold mountain air Marine outposts heard the sound of Soviet-built tanks clanking only a few hundred yards away.

Spotter planes had reported heavy troop movement all day. Marine officers here felt that at least the big battle for Khe Sanh was about to open.

Deep in his command bunker, Col. David E. Lownds called for massive air strikes "up tight," as close to the Marine lines as possible. North Vietnamese assault trenches have reached to within 100 yards of the encircled Marine base at some points.

Air Force B52s and jets together with fighter bombers of the Marines and Navy responded with a massive display of firepower, possibly the biggest single day in an air war campaign the Air Force said has already become the greatest single effort in history.

In all 2.48 million pounds of bombs, rockets and napalm were poured into the North Vietnamese defensive positions around Khe Sanh during last Monday's 24 hours. It included what one Marine called "the night of the bombs."

The sky was filled with rippling flashes as jet after jet dropped their bombs. Some of the strikes were so close to Khe Sanh's perimeter that the heavily sandbagged Marine bunkers jumped convulsively. Marines looked at their bunker's roofs and hoped the supports would hold. None failed.

During that one day, 19 B52's dropped up to 50,000 pounds of bombs aplece in the Khe Sanh area, and 279 smaller jets dropped 1,532,000 pounds of bombs.

The crucial hour of 4 a.m. passed with no attack. Generally major North Vietnamese onslaughts start before this time so they will not be caught in the open during day light.

The following night was one of the quietest Khe Sanh has known since two North Vietnamese divisions laid siege to the 5,000-man Marine base 14 miles south of the demilitarized zone one month ago.

If the North Vietnamese finally follow up their heavy shelling with determined ground assaults, it is air power that is supposed to give the Marines a needed equalizer during the battle. Marine artillery also has its role, but is probably more than compensated for by enemy slege guns, rockets and mortars.

Since the battle opened in January, more than 1,000 B52's have bombed the area, together with 10,000 individual strikes by smaller bombers.

Three jets have been shot down near Khe Sanh by ground fire.

A major concern now is the threat of a North Vietnamese air strike against Khe Sanh, probably aimed at the base's defensive perimeter to open up a hole for assaulting infantrymen. The Air Force keeps fighters in the area, and Marines are confident that the Air Force will do its best to knock down as many bombers as possible.

Probation System Is Proposed

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Prison Board Chairman John Haley said Wednesday that a bill will be introduced in the second special legislative session to create a statewide probation system.

Haley said only a few counties can afford a probation officer now.

It also was indicated that the special session in May will be asked to change the state law to remove the sentencing power from juries except in capital cases. The power would be placed solely with circuit judges.

Haley said Arkansas was one of 12 states that allowed juries to set the length of sentences in other than capital cases.

Haley's remarks came while the state Prison Board held a special meeting here Wednesday, mostly to discuss farm problems at Tucker Prison Farm.

Marshall Rush of Pine Bluff, a farmer and a member of the board, said the director of the Soil Conservation Service office at Pine Bluff has been asked to study the land at Tucker to find solutions to severe drainage problems, which are reducing the yield at the farm.

Q—Does hardening of the arteries of the brain run in families? What are the early symptoms? Would a blood count indicate this kind of trouble?

A—Hardening of the arteries runs in families only to the extent that long life runs in the family. It is usually a generalized process, so the first sign is often "pipe stem" arteries in the wrists or the appearance of calcification in the arteries on an X-ray film. An artery, even with advanced hardening, causes no symptoms as long as it is functioning. When the opening in the diseased vessel in the brain becomes so narrow that the blood can't flow through readily or when a brittle artery becomes plugged with a blood clot or breaks, the victim has symptoms that may be mild (little stroke) or severe (apoplexy). The nature of the symptoms varies widely, depending on the severity and the part of the brain affected. A blood count would not be helpful in establishing the diagnosis of arterial brain damage.

Q—What is the difference between concussion of the brain and a cerebral hemorrhage? Can a doctor tell the difference without X rays?

A—A heavy blow on the head (concussion) may cause some crushing of brain tissue, hemorrhage or a skull fracture. In the milder cases, with no hemorrhage or fracture, the victim may lose consciousness for only a few seconds. On coming to, he may feel fine and go on about his business. This is dangerous because after a few hours he may lose consciousness again, fall and incur a more severe injury. This is because the brain, like any other tissue, swells following an injury but, since within the skull the room for expansion is very limited, the swelling may interfere with the brain's blood supply. Such a person should remain quiet for several hours.

A person may have a cerebral hemorrhage associated with his concussion or from a stroke or a gunshot wound. A doctor depends on the patient's history and physical findings rather than an X ray to make the diagnosis unless a skull fracture is suspected.

Q—I am taking Vasodilan and Dilantin for poor circulation in the brain. Could these drugs cause drowsiness?

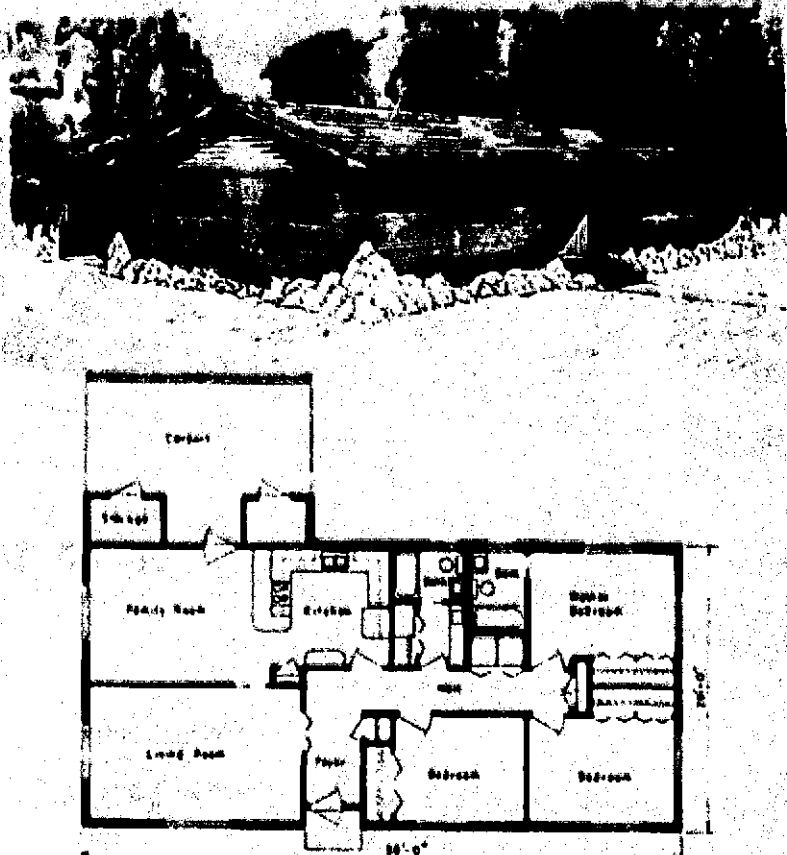

A—These drugs would be more likely to have the opposite effect. Your drowsiness may be a result of your circulatory disease.

First "Taps"

In 1862, during the Civil War, Gen. McClellan had his headquarters at Berkeley, then called Harrison's Landing, Va., and it was here that summer, that Gen. Butterfield composed "Taps."

Agricultural Extension Service Plan No. 657606, available at your County Extension Office.

Here is a house plan for a comfortable, three-bedroom house with two baths and medium-large rooms. It will provide your family with plenty of room for informal living in the combination kitchen-family room which opens into the carport. The carport is shown for a single unit, but the roof could easily be extended to make a double carport. With the car or cars left in the driveway, this covered area will be ideal for outdoor activities. The central conditioning system and the water heater should be located in an outside storage area. This location will make it easier to service the equipment. There is also storage space for lawn equipment and other items.

The formal living room may be entered from either the foyer or the family room. The two bathrooms are designed back to back to save plumbing costs. The laundry equipment is located in the bedroom area, just outside the central bath. It opens into a "working" hall four feet wide. Automatic laundry equipment makes this location practical and most efficient. The main bathroom is compartmented to double its usefulness. The front compartment contains a wash bowl, dressing table and a wheeled laundry cart, as well as two closets.

Each of the three bedrooms is of a comfortable size and has extra large closets.

If you would like to study this house plan, call or write the Hempstead County Extension Office and request Extension Plan No. 657606.
